The Company has also set aside from the aforesaid capital NT$ TWENTY MILLION (20,000,000) for the issuance of employee stock options, preferred shares with warrants or equity warrant bonds subscriptions at TWO MILLION (2,000,000) shares, with a value per share of NT$ TEN (10), with the unissued shares to be issued by installments by the Board of Directors. The Company may be exempted from printing any share certificate for the shares issued, and shall register the issued shares with a centralized securities depository enterprise.

Article 7-1: Deleted.

- Article 8: The rights, obligations and other important issuance terms of preferred shares are as follows:
1. If there is a profit after tax in after closing of accounts, the Company shall first make up the losses for the preceding years, and then set aside a legal reserve of the net profit. Aside from the aforesaid legal reserve, the Company may, under its regulations, set aside another sum as special reserve or make reversals thereof; if there are still earnings after the aforesaid distribution, the Company may distribute in priority the dividend distributable for the preferred shares in the current year.
 2. The dividend rate of preferred shares is capped at eight percent (8%) per annum on the issue price. Dividends are paid annually in cash in one lump sum. The Board of Directors under authorization may set the ex-dividend date for payments of dividends for the previous fiscal year following ratification of financial statements in the regular shareholders' meeting each year. In the year of issuance and redemption, the distribution of the payable dividends shall be calculated proportionally based on the actual number of days the preferred shares remained outstanding in that year.

3. The Company has sole discretion on the distribution of preferred share dividends. If there is no earning or insufficient earning for distributing dividends of preferred shares in the fiscal year, the Company may decide not to distribute preferred share dividends by resolution, and the shareholder of preferred shares does not hold the right to object. Preferred shares are non-cumulative shares. If the Company decide not to distribute preferred share dividends or to distribute insufficient dividend, the undistributed dividends or shortfalls in dividends distributed shall not be cumulative and shall cease to accrue and be payable, therefore no deferred payment will be paid in subsequent years where there are earnings.
4. Except as the receipt of dividends set forth in subparagraph 2 herein, shareholders of the preferred share are not entitled to distribution of earnings and capital reserves in cash or capitalized portion in relation to common stock.
5. The shareholders of preferred shares and shareholders of ordinary shares have the same pre-emptive rights to the Company's newly issued shares for cash.
6. The priority of shareholders of this preferred share is higher than shareholders of ordinary share in distribution of the remaining properties of the Company, and the shareholders of various preferred share issued by the Company are of identical compensation order and are preceded by general creditors; however, the amount shall be limited to the values as calculated by issuance price of the issued and outstanding preferred shares upon distribution.
7. Shareholders of preferred share are not granted voting rights or number of votes exercisable in elections; however, they may be elected as directors of the Company; they are granted voting rights in the special shareholders' meetings or the regular shareholders' meetings in which the proposals involve rights and obligations of a shareholder of preferred share.
8. Where the preferred share issued by the Company is convertible may not be converted within one (1) year from the date of issuance. The Board of Directors under authorization may adopt the conversion period(s) in the actual issuance condition(s) of preferred shares. Shareholders of the convertible preferred shares may apply for conversion of part or all of preferred shares held by the rate of one (1) preferred share to one (1) ordinary share (conversion ratio 1:1). The rights and obligations for owners of ordinary shares shall apply to those of the ordinary shares converted from the convertible preferred shares. The distribution of dividends in the year the preferred shares is converted is based on the proportion of actual outstanding days of the year to number of days of the year. Shareholders converting their convertible preferred shares to ordinary shares prior to record date for ex-right/dividend of dividend distribution are not entitled to preferred share dividend distribution on the year of distribution and dividend distributions from the following years, yet they are entitled to distributions of the earnings from the ordinary shares and capital reserve in the current year.

9. The preferred share does not have a maturity date, and shareholders of this preferred share may not require the Company to redeem this preferred share at his/her possession; however, the Company may redeem all or part of this preferred share any time after five (5) years of issuance at the actual issuance price or in accordance with relevant issuance regulations. Rights and obligations under the issuance conditions as provided for in this Article remain effective to unredeemed portions of this preferred share until the shares are redeemed. In case the Company has resolved the dividend distribution for the year the redemption of preferred share is made, the dividend required to be distributed as of redemption date shall be calculated based on actual outstanding days for such shares in the year.
10. The Board of Directors is authorized to perform over-the-counter matters in relation to the preferred share and the converted common stocks in consideration of the Company status and market circumstances.

Name, issuance date and concrete issuance condition(s) and other relevant matters of this preferred share are adopted based on capital market circumstances and subscription willingness by the investors and in accordance with these Articles of Incorporation and relevant laws and regulations by the Board of Directors under authorization upon issuance.

Article 9: Stocks of the Company are in form of registered shares, and the share certificates shall be affixed with the signatures or personal seals of the directors representing the Company, and shall be duly certified or authenticated by the attestation bank for the issuance of share certificates to certify shares under the laws before issuance thereof.

The Company may print its share certificate in combined form following total number of shares in each issuance of new shares, and the Company shall entrust the centralized securities depository enterprise on depository affairs.

The Company may, in response to requests of the centralized securities depository enterprise, perform a merger for reissuance of securities in larger denominations.

The Company may be exempted from printing its share certificates for issued shares and securities, and shall register the issued shares with a centralized securities depository enterprise.

Article 10: Except as otherwise provided in laws and regulations or securities regulations, stock affairs of the Company stocks by shareholders of the Company shall be conducted in accordance with the "Regulations Governing the Administration of Shareholder Services of Public Companies".
